At the Dismissal of Divine Liturgy:

...our fathers among the saints Tikhon, Patriarch of Moscow & All Russia, the New Confessor; the Blessed New-Martyr Peter, Metropolitan of Krutitsy; John, Archbishop of Shanghai & San Francisco, the Wonderworker; Jonah, Bishop of Hankow; the Holy Martyr Alexander of Munich...

At the Great Litany: For their Beatitudes, the ever-memorable Metropolitans Anthony and Anastassy; the Metropolitans Philaret, Vitaly, Laurus, and Hilarion; all those who for Christ and the Russian Church laboured in divers lands, (here to be inserted the names of those honoured in the local place: its archpastors, pastors, and laymen) and the other archpastors, pastors, founders, and benefactors of the Russian Diaspora; for the elect sons and daughters of the Church of Russia, who faithfully struggled for her unity, good estate, and honour in the realms of piety, blessedness, governance, the protection of the persecuted, and the veneration of the New Martyrs and Confessors; for our righteous ancestors, whom we now commemorate, and for their peaceful repose and blessed memory, let us pray to the Lord.

At Pannykhidas:

At other Litanies: Their Beatitudes, the ever-memorable Metropolitans Anthony and Anastassy; the Metropolitans Philaret, Vitaly, Laurus, and Hilarion; all those who for Christ and the Russian Church laboured in divers lands, (here to be inserted the names of those honoured in the local place: its archpastors, pastors, and laymen) and the other archpastors, pastors, founders and benefactors of the Russian Diaspora; the elect sons and daughters of the Church of Russia, who faithfully struggled for her unity, good estate, and honour in the ...God, and unto Thee do we send up glory... Then, Alleluia. A new hymn, in Thy name, is known among the churches of Thy Holy Russian and among the churches of the Russian Church, the True Christian Faith: to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost, be ascribed glory...
At “Memory Eternal”: …to Their Beatitudes, the ever-memorable Metropolitans Anthony and Anastasy; the Metropolitans Philaret, Vitaly, Laurus, and Hilarion; all those who for the Christian Faith and the Russian Church laboured in divers lands; (here to be inserted the names of those honoured in the local place: its archpastors, pastors, and laymen) and the other archpastors, pastors, founders, and benefactors of the Russian Diaspora; the elect sons and daughters of the Church of Russia, who faithfully struggled for her unity, good estate, and honour in the realms of piety, blessedness, governance, the protection of the persecuted, and the veneration of the New Martyrs and Confessors; for our righteous ancestors, whom we now commemorate, and make their memory…

At Molebens:

At molebens offered for the New Year, during patronal feasts, and at festal celebrations – whether local, diocesan, parish- or Church-wide – on the occasion of the centenary jubilee of the Russian Orthodox Church Outside of Russia, and on other significant days during this anniversary year, to the hymns prescribed for the General Moleben we add, after “God is the Lord,” the following troparia:

We, Thine unworthy servants, offer thanks to Thee, O Lord, for Thy great blessings which Thou hast compassionately poured forth upon the faithful children of the Russian Church dwelling in the Diaspora; and giving glory, we praise Thee, bless Thee, and give thanks unto Thee, hymning and magnifying Thy goodness; and as Thy servants we cry unto Thee with love: O our Benefactor and Saviour, glory to Thee.
The remaining petitions and prayers are offered as found in the Book of Needs.

Where it is appointed to sing “Many Years,” first shall be proclaimed “Memory æternal” (see above), and then the Protodeacon shall intone:

Save, O Christ God, our great lord and father His Holiness Kyrill, Patriarch of Moscow & All Russia, our lord His Eminence Nicholas, Metropolitan of Eastern America & New York, First Hierarch of the Russian Church Abroad, (here to be inserted the name of the Ruling Bishop of the Diocese; in cathedral settings, the names of other archpastors who are present shall here be added) together with their blessed flock and all the faithful children the Orthodox Church, both in the Fatherland and in the Diaspora, preserving them in peace and unity, and strengthening and confirming them in the Orthodox Faith, unto the ages of ages. Amen.
